

Health Translations

Translated information about health and wellbeing

Stakeholder Pack

Content

HOW TO USE THE KIT

INTRODUCTION

IMPORTANT LINKS

OUR PARTNERS

BECOME A PARTNER

CHANNELS

SOCIAL MEDIA ASSETS

NEWSLETTER & WEBSITE

PROMOTIONAL MATERIAL

CONTACT US

How to use the kit

We've created this kit specifically for you, so you can spread the word about Health Translations to your networks, using the channels and methods that work best for you. This kit contains:

- All relevant/useful Health Translations links
- Social media assets & images
- Facebook, Instagram, Twitter posts
- Newsletter and website copy (100 words)
- Flyers, brochures and posters

Introduction

Health Translations is a free online library of high-quality translated Australian health and wellbeing information. Aimed at Australian health practitioners and people who work with culturally and linguistically diverse communities, the site provides quick access to a wealth of reliable resources.

Health Translations is an initiative of the Victorian Government of Australia. The Centre for Culture, Equity and Health (CEH) has been contracted by the Victorian Department of Health to manage and improve the library.

CEH is a program of North Richmond Community Health (NRCH est. 1974), a not for profit Community Health Centre, which aims to build healthier communities by making healthcare more accessible and culturally relevant.

Health Translations provides direct links to reliable translated health and wellbeing resources produced in Australia. We do not host or upload resources. We provide links to resources hosted on third-party websites.

Important Links

- Health Translations homepage
- Advanced search
- Search by language
- Search by topic
- FAQs
- Tools for professionals
- Newsletters
- Promote us

Our Partners

Benefits of becoming a Health Translations partner

- Increase your organisation's profile
- Increase the availability of your resources
- Gain exposure for your organisation
- Generate more traffic to your website
- Receive additional advice and support on request

If you are an Australian organisation that produces translated health and wellbeing resources in written or audio-visual format, please contact us

Channels

Help us raise awareness about the importance of access to quality translated health and wellbeing information by promoting Health Translations. Inside this pack you'll find a range of social media tiles and engaging content ready to be shared across various platforms. You can copy and paste these, adapt them to suit your audiences or create individual posts unique to your network. Tag us using the social media channels below.

Share our assets

Social Media tiles

Social Media tiles

Health Translations
Translated information about health and wellbeing

Your one-stop destination
For free, reliable, multilingual resources

This social media tile features a photograph of a woman wearing a colorful headscarf and a young child. The woman is smiling and looking towards the camera, while the child looks slightly to the side. The background is a soft-focus outdoor setting.

Health Translations
Translated information about health and wellbeing

Do you produce multilingual health material?
Register your resources with us for maximum reach

This social media tile shows a man and a woman sitting at a desk in what appears to be a library or office. They are both looking at a laptop screen. The man is wearing glasses and a white shirt, and the woman is wearing a red top. Bookshelves are visible in the background.

Health Translations
Translated information about health and wellbeing

We speak your language
Reliable resources in over 100 languages

This social media tile features a large grid of 30 small portrait photographs of people from various ethnicities and ages, representing a diverse community. The people are smiling and looking towards the camera. The grid is arranged in 5 rows and 6 columns.

Social Media tiles

Health Translations
Translated information about health and wellbeing

Free and reliable resources
Regularly updated and audited resources

This tile features a photograph of a female doctor in a white lab coat sitting at a desk, smiling and talking to a female patient. The background is a bright, clinical setting with a window.

Health Translations
Translated information about health and wellbeing

Your one stop destination
For free, reliable, multilingual resources

This tile features a close-up photograph of a smiling female doctor in a white lab coat over blue scrubs, holding a white folder. The background is a blurred green outdoor setting.

Health Translations
Translated information about health and wellbeing

We speak your language
Reliable resources in over 100 languages

This tile features a photograph of a woman wearing a colorful patterned hijab and a grey jacket, smiling warmly. A young child with curly hair is sitting next to her, looking towards the camera. The background is a soft-focus outdoor scene.

Newsletter and website copy

“Health professionals and others working with culturally and linguistically diverse (CALD) communities can use Health Translations to easily find translated health information in over 100 languages. The directory is an online library that provides web links to third-party sites with translated health and wellbeing resources. Those sites include government departments, peak health bodies, hospitals, and community health and welfare agencies. You can search for resources by language, topic, organisation, keyword and file type. This initiative is supported by the Victorian Government and managed by the Centre for Culture, Equity and Health.”

Promotional material

Poster

Health Translations
A free library of Australian multilingual health and wellbeing information funded by the Victorian Government.

Do you need reliable translated health and wellbeing information?

Scan QR Code to visit:
healthtranslations.vic.gov.au

Information for you and your family
Health Translations is a free online library of high-quality translated Australian health and wellbeing information, funded by the Victorian Government.

Great for health practitioners
We have a section for health professionals and service providers, with practical tools to support your work with clients from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds.

Our purpose
We aim to improve the health of people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds by providing access to quality translated health information.

Reliable information
All resources are of a high standard and provide reliable translated health information. Each resource has been produced in Australia, translated by a NAATI-accredited translator*. Resources are regularly reviewed to ensure quality and accuracy.
*National Accreditation Authority for Translators & Interpreters

Flyer

Health Translations
Translated information about health and wellbeing

Health Translations is Australia's most extensive free online library of quality translated health and wellbeing information in over 100 languages.

An excellent tool for health practitioners and service providers who work with culturally & linguistically diverse communities.

Scan QR Code to visit:
healthtranslations.vic.gov.au

The Centre for Culture, Equity and Health (CEH) manages Health Translations for the Victorian State Government. CEH is an expert in cultural competence and health literacy training.

Brochure

Health Translations
A free library of Australian multilingual health and wellbeing information funded by the Victorian Government.

Partners:

www.ceh.org.au

Help us to keep improving Health Translations

The Centre for Culture, Equity and Health manages Health Translations. We regularly review our collection to improve your user experience and the quality of materials. However, we're a small team and we rely on the contribution of organisations from across Australia to keep Health Translations relevant and high quality. If you know of a multilingual health and wellbeing resource, produced in Australia, that is not listed, please contact us at healthtranslations@ceh.org.au.

Do you need free reliable translated health and wellbeing information?

Health Translations is freely available to everyone. If you have family members, colleagues, clients or friends who are looking for translated health and wellbeing information, please direct them to Health Translations.

Health Translations is a free online library of translated health and wellbeing resources produced in Australia and funded by the Victorian Government.

Scan to visit Health Translations website:
www.healthtranslations.vic.gov.au

www.healthtranslations.vic.gov.au

Contact us

 <https://healthtranslations.vic.gov.au/contact-us>

 healthtranslations@ceh.org.au